Previously on „The lost Temple“:

Mikael – a young archeology student – learned of the world of magic by meeting the demon girl Kassandra Elaquoi. In exchange for his help, she has taught him magic – though he is not very skilled at it. On her command, he has infiltrated a camp in the woods where ether wielders train. He becomes part of the group, and now he's on a mission for them.

Together with Velia, Vadim, and Lucy, he infiltrated the local museum to stop a theft from happening, but things did not work out as planned. Mika has managed to knock out the thief (who turned out to be a naked woman with orange hair), but now Mrs. Rosot, the security guard, is rushing in. Can Mika distract her to help the others escape without getting caught himself?

So, Mrs. Rostov ran into the exhibit area.

And she was damn sure she had heard something in here...

Come
out!

I, once again, was hiding behind
some piece of antiquity.

Well, at least
you did not let go of the artifaCt.

Yeah... If I was caught with that red-handed... I would been sent to prison I guess...

But Velia was afraid of it, so handing it to her
was not an option...

Anyway, I set there, artifact
next to me...

Mrs. Rostov observing the area...
listening to every sound I would make to flip my cover...

I know you
are here!

Come on,
little guy.
Hurry up!

There is no
escape!

Finally!
Let's hope
this works!

One...

There is nobody here.

*You
misheard.*

You have an incredible urge to pee right now.

There is
nobody here...

I must have
misheard...

Ha-ha-ha!
Okay that had a nice and sneaky
touch.

It never occurred
to me one could combine the evil
eye spell like that...

And that Vasta spell you've learned seems intriguing.

Well done,
minion.

Thank you.
That's great praise coming from you.

Ocavum is temporary. Vasta can do permanent changes! But she does not need to know that...

Of course, Ocavum is still much stronger, and if it'd been me...

I would have just walked over to her, put her under, and made her pee herself right there.
chuckle

Oh, really? I doubt walking up to her was an option. What about the bullets? The security guard had a gun.

Okay... I guess
one would need bigger guns against her...

Oh, please!
This skin of mine
deflects crossbow
bolts easily.

Must be nice...
being invulnerable...

Fun Fact: Medieval
crossbows actually do have higher armor penetration than standard handgun bullets. So, despite Kessy being oblivious to modern weaponry, her statement is actually correct. She indeed is bullet proof! (at least handgun-bullet-proof) 😊

Well, if you'd show any sort of potential like my other minion, I'd help you with that...

By the way, he's really showing progress with the Transmogrigae spell. He can even change others now.

Anyway, it's you... that spell needs way too much Ether. So, sorry, no tough skin for you.

Can I have my artifact now?

Wait... didn't Bab's say her friend just got big boobs for no reason?

Let me finish the story first.

Has he been caught?

Damn it!

Can you see if she has caught Mika?

Lucy, you still have that tracking magic on the guard?

She's further away now...

Damn!
Who are these people?

...but I'll try to establish a connection.

I'm getting a signal...

I think I found her...

One moment.
The connection
is still foggy.

So?
Does she have Mika?

Okay, I'm getting an image of her now...

Oh, my!

What?!
What's wrong?

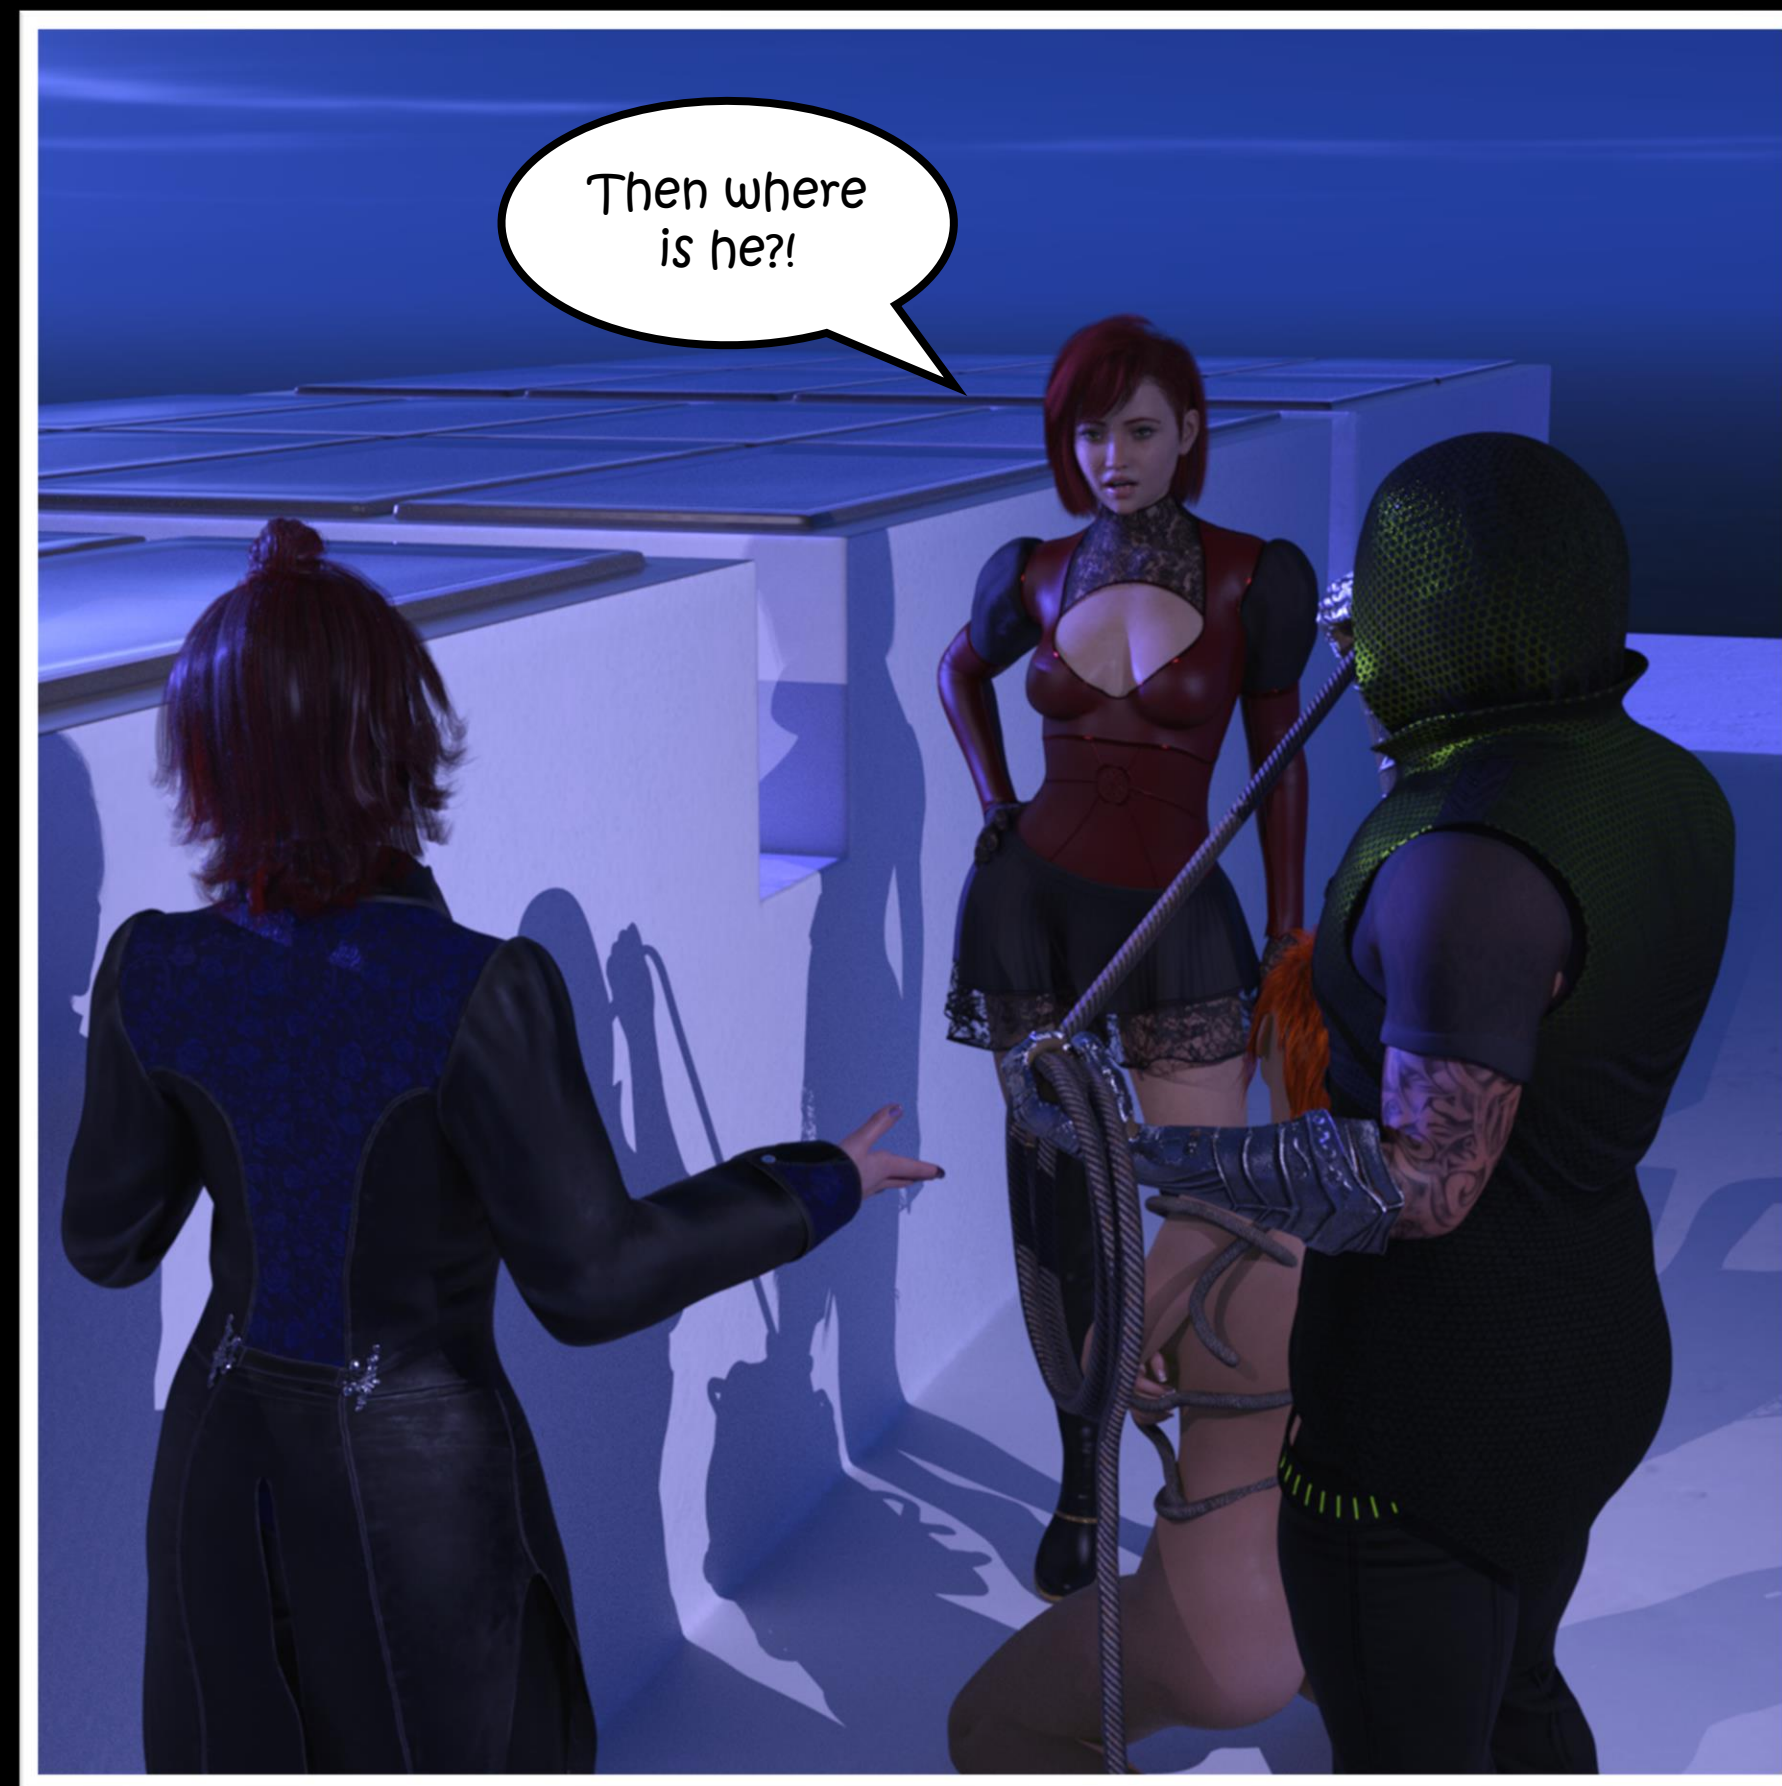

Phew

That was a close Call!

If he gets caught, we can bust him out of prison...

But his social life will be over...

I can't establish a mental connection either. Probably because the magic trap is with him...

Yo, guys. You talking about someone I know?

Mika!

Another one?

There he is!

How did you get out?

Nice entrance, man!

You made it!

Well, I managed to lead the guard...
the other way

Then I
teleported out
the window
and up here.

You... used teloris? But you are holding a magic trap!

Don't come any closer!

This thing?
Doesn't really do squat. What's so special...

It's a magic trap. It reacts to ether in its vicinity.

It cancels out spells and even traps an Ether wielder inside when you get too close!

Da fuck?
I wasn't supposed to steal something like that...

A man and a woman are sitting on a light-colored sofa in a modern living room. The man, on the left, is wearing a brown and tan patterned sweater and black pants, sitting cross-legged with his legs raised. He has short brown hair and wears glasses. The woman, on the right, is wearing a dark blue two-piece outfit with a white belt and has dark hair. She has a surprised expression with her mouth open and hands raised. The background features a light-colored wall with two abstract paintings. The scene is overlaid with comic-style speech bubbles and a thought bubble.

Finally!
Something
she's afraid of!

The artifact's
an ancient Magic Trap?!

I heard those fuckers a pack a punch. Even my father, the great demon lord, was weary of them!

Wait for it. We are getting there...

This thing is this powerful?

Understood!
gulp

So please,
don't get any closer or it will activate...

He's holding it as if it's nothing...

We somehow managed to make our way through the city unseen and entered the woods.

The two girls were walking at the front, intensely discussing something I could not hear...

Why can he hold the trap?

Maybe... his ether... is so low it does not trigger the trap?

Who would have thought that low ether could be an advantage...

After them, Vadim was holding a tight leash on our captive...

This feels wrong...

If somebody saw we'd look like
the bad guys
right now, right?

Vadim's view...

Autsch!
I don't even have shoes,
you monsters!

And finally, I followed behind
at a secure distance...

But I did not mind...

For my mission had succeeded perfectly.

What do you mean succeeded perfectly.

You brought the artifact to Asher, right?

And even if not, I'm not interested in a magic trap!

Ah... yes. About that.

You remember the artifacts and the decoys we had prepared?

Errr...
maybe?

There was the artifact itself at the museum.

There was the decoy that the museum staff put on display at the exhibition.

Yeah...
Nobody fell
for that one.

True... But at least the decoy we had Yara make was enough to fool the public. Velia put it where the "real" one had been stolen and the public is non-the-wiser.

Your point being?

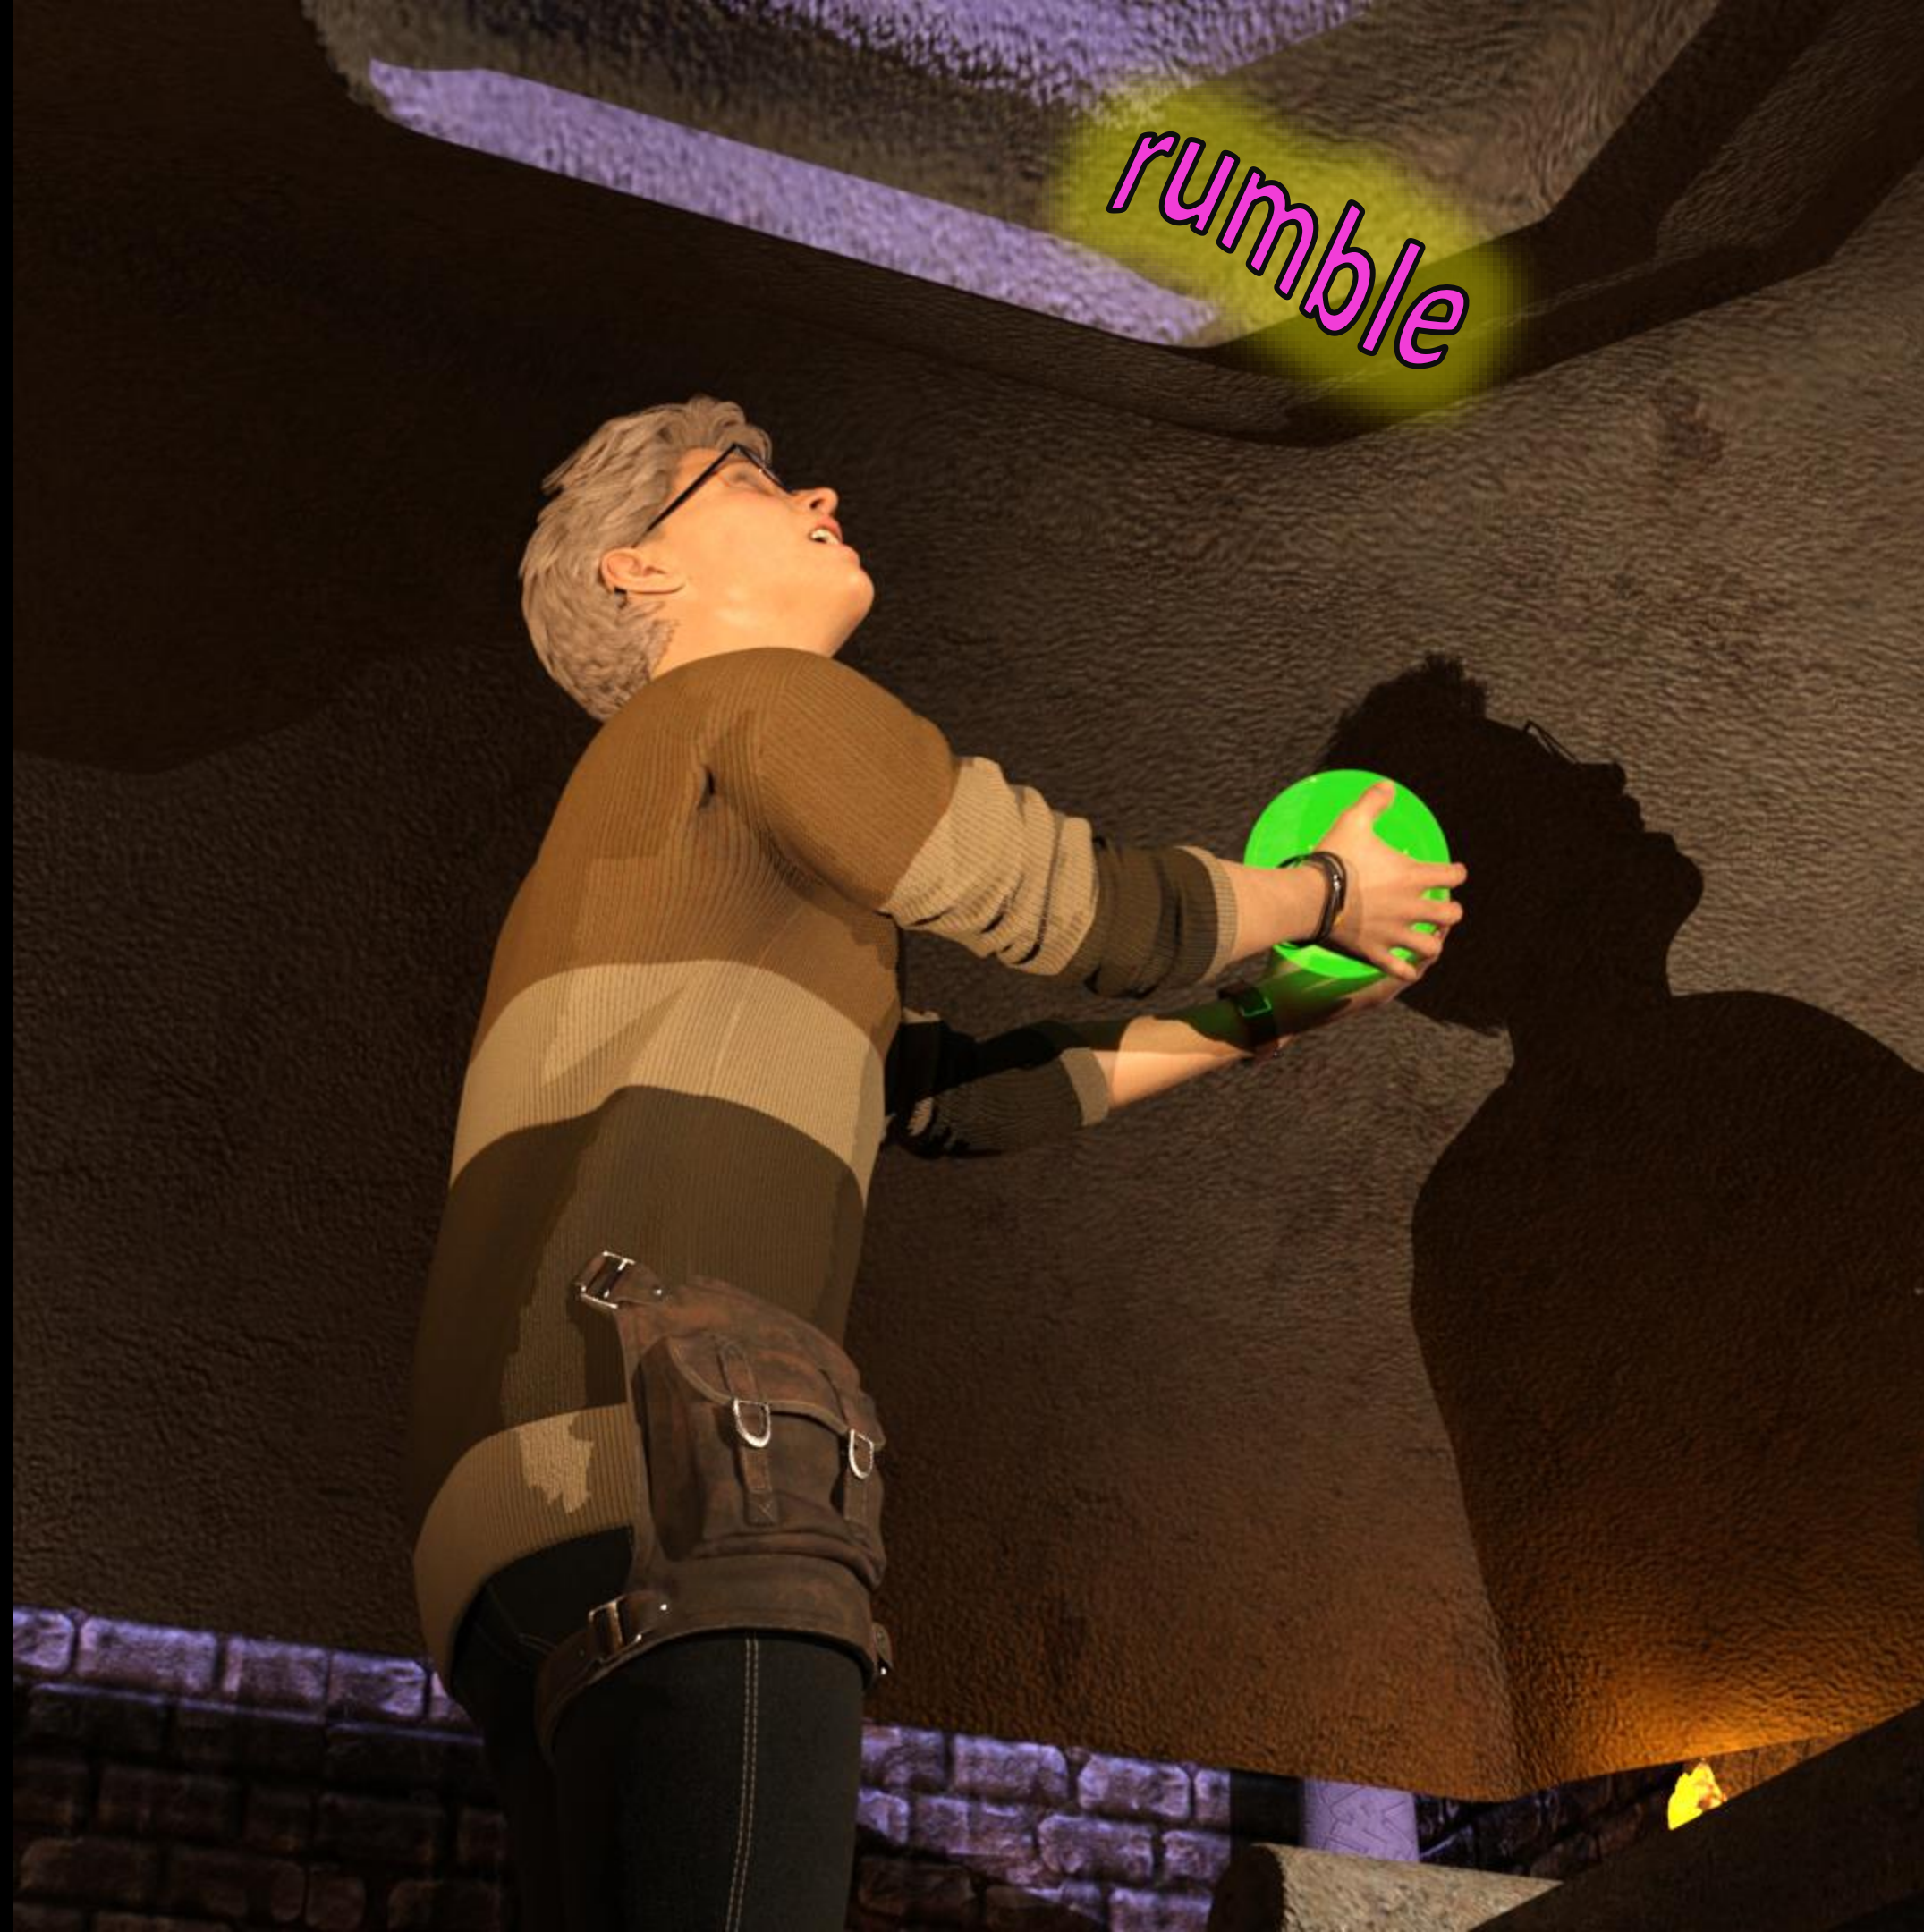

shake

Whoopsie!

rumble

Well... what if there weren't 2
decoys. But three instead?

What are you getting at?

What if I went back into that temple where I got you your first artifact.

Snatched the demon trap I left
there...

Teloris!

Escaped the room trap...

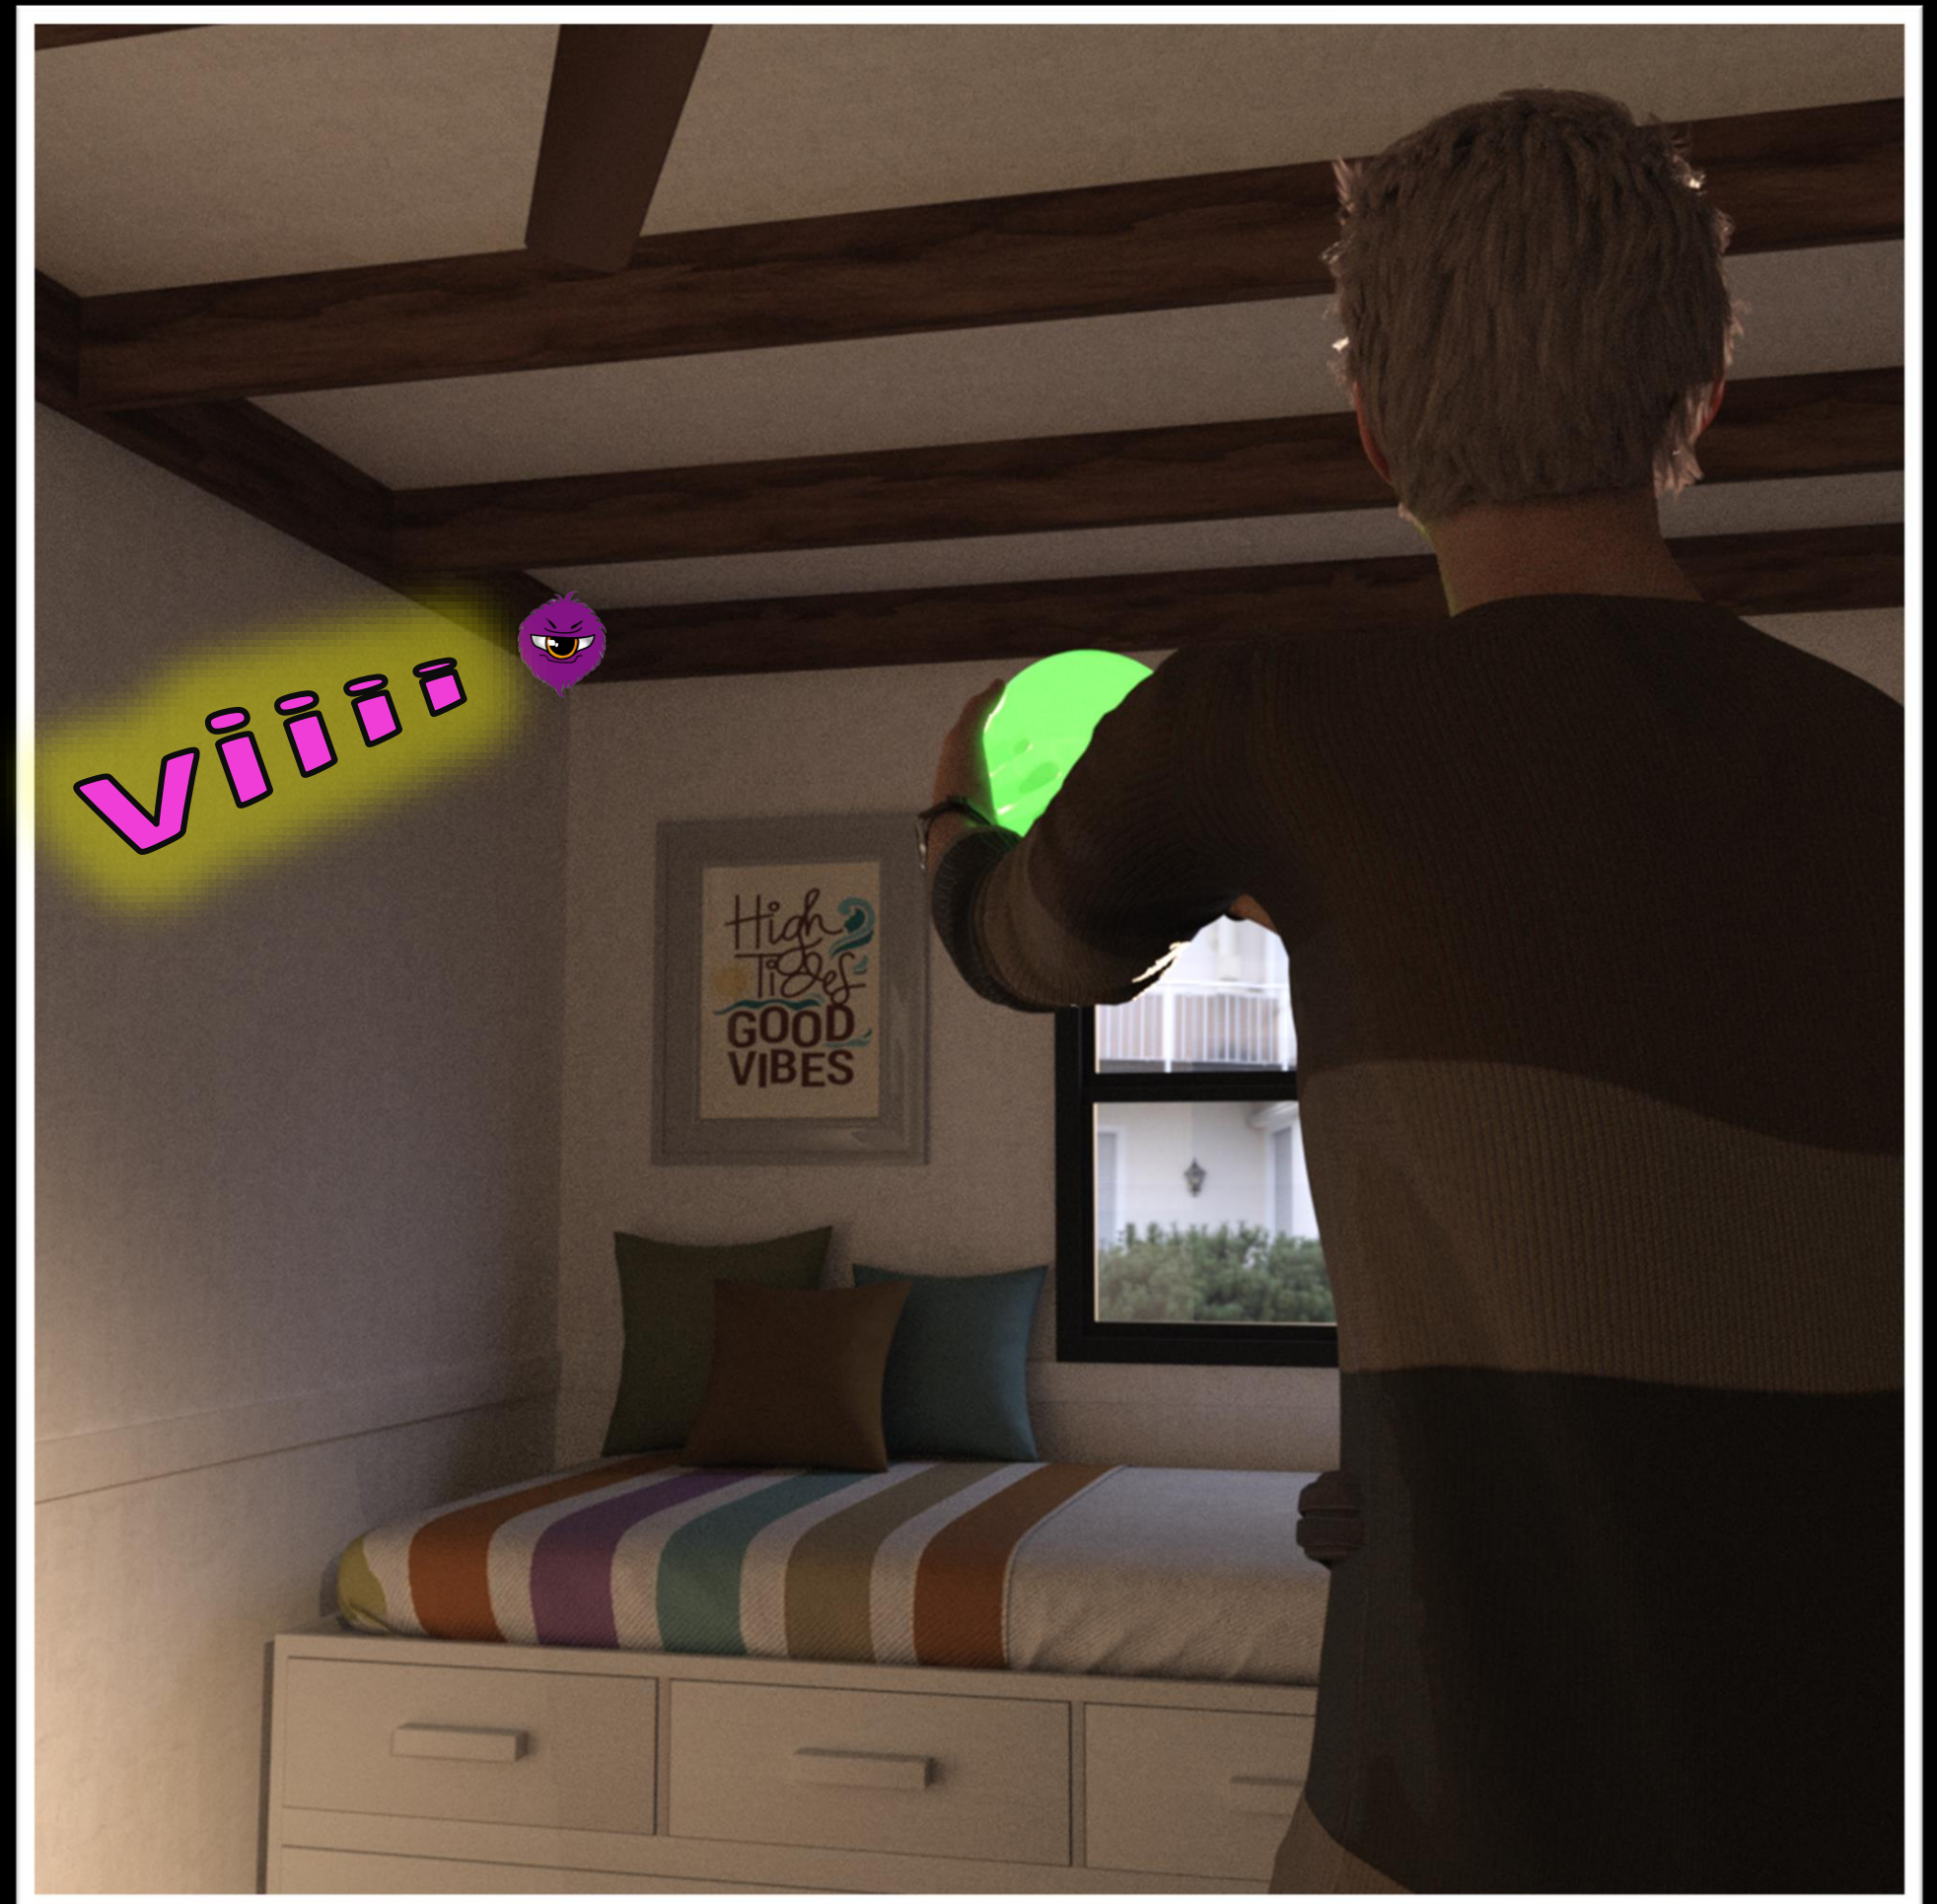

...I accidentally triggered even though I was sure that stone should have had about the same weight...

And managed to get back to the safety of my room with it.

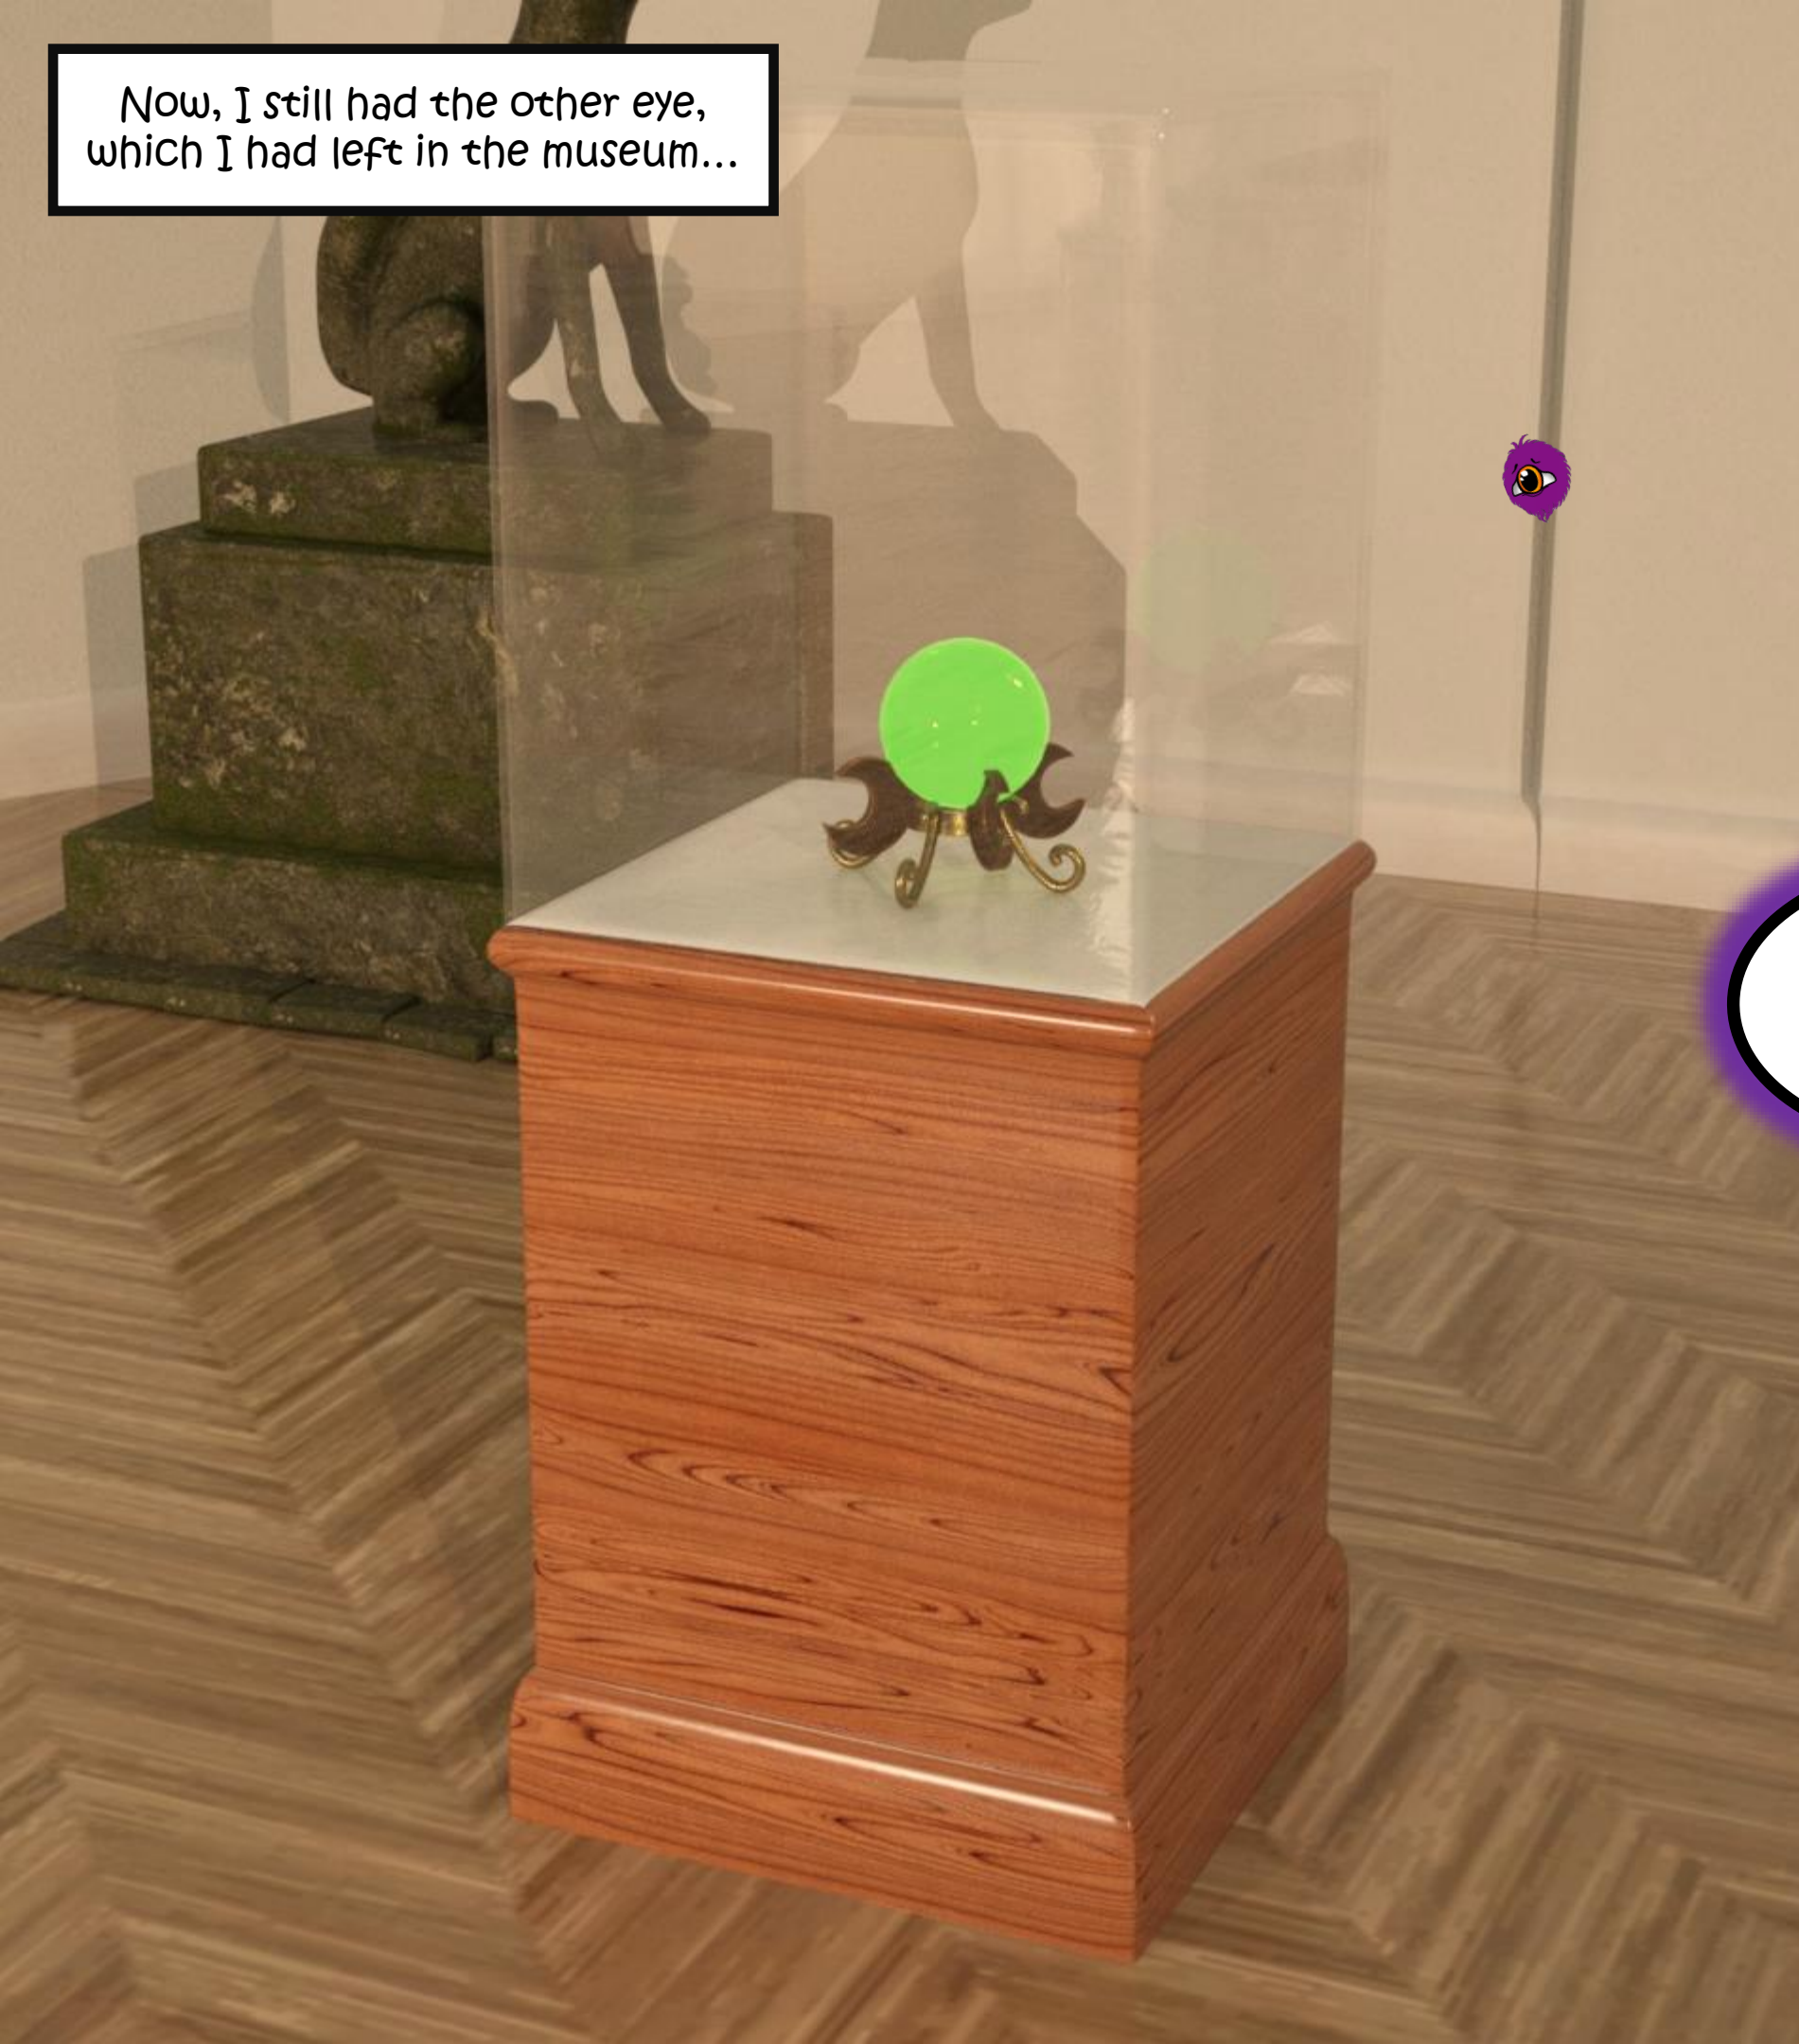

I don't get it.
What are you
telling me
here?

Well, the magic trap is a glowing green orb. It looks the same as the artifact.

Now, I still had the other eye,
which I had left in the museum...

*Oculus
adjungo!*

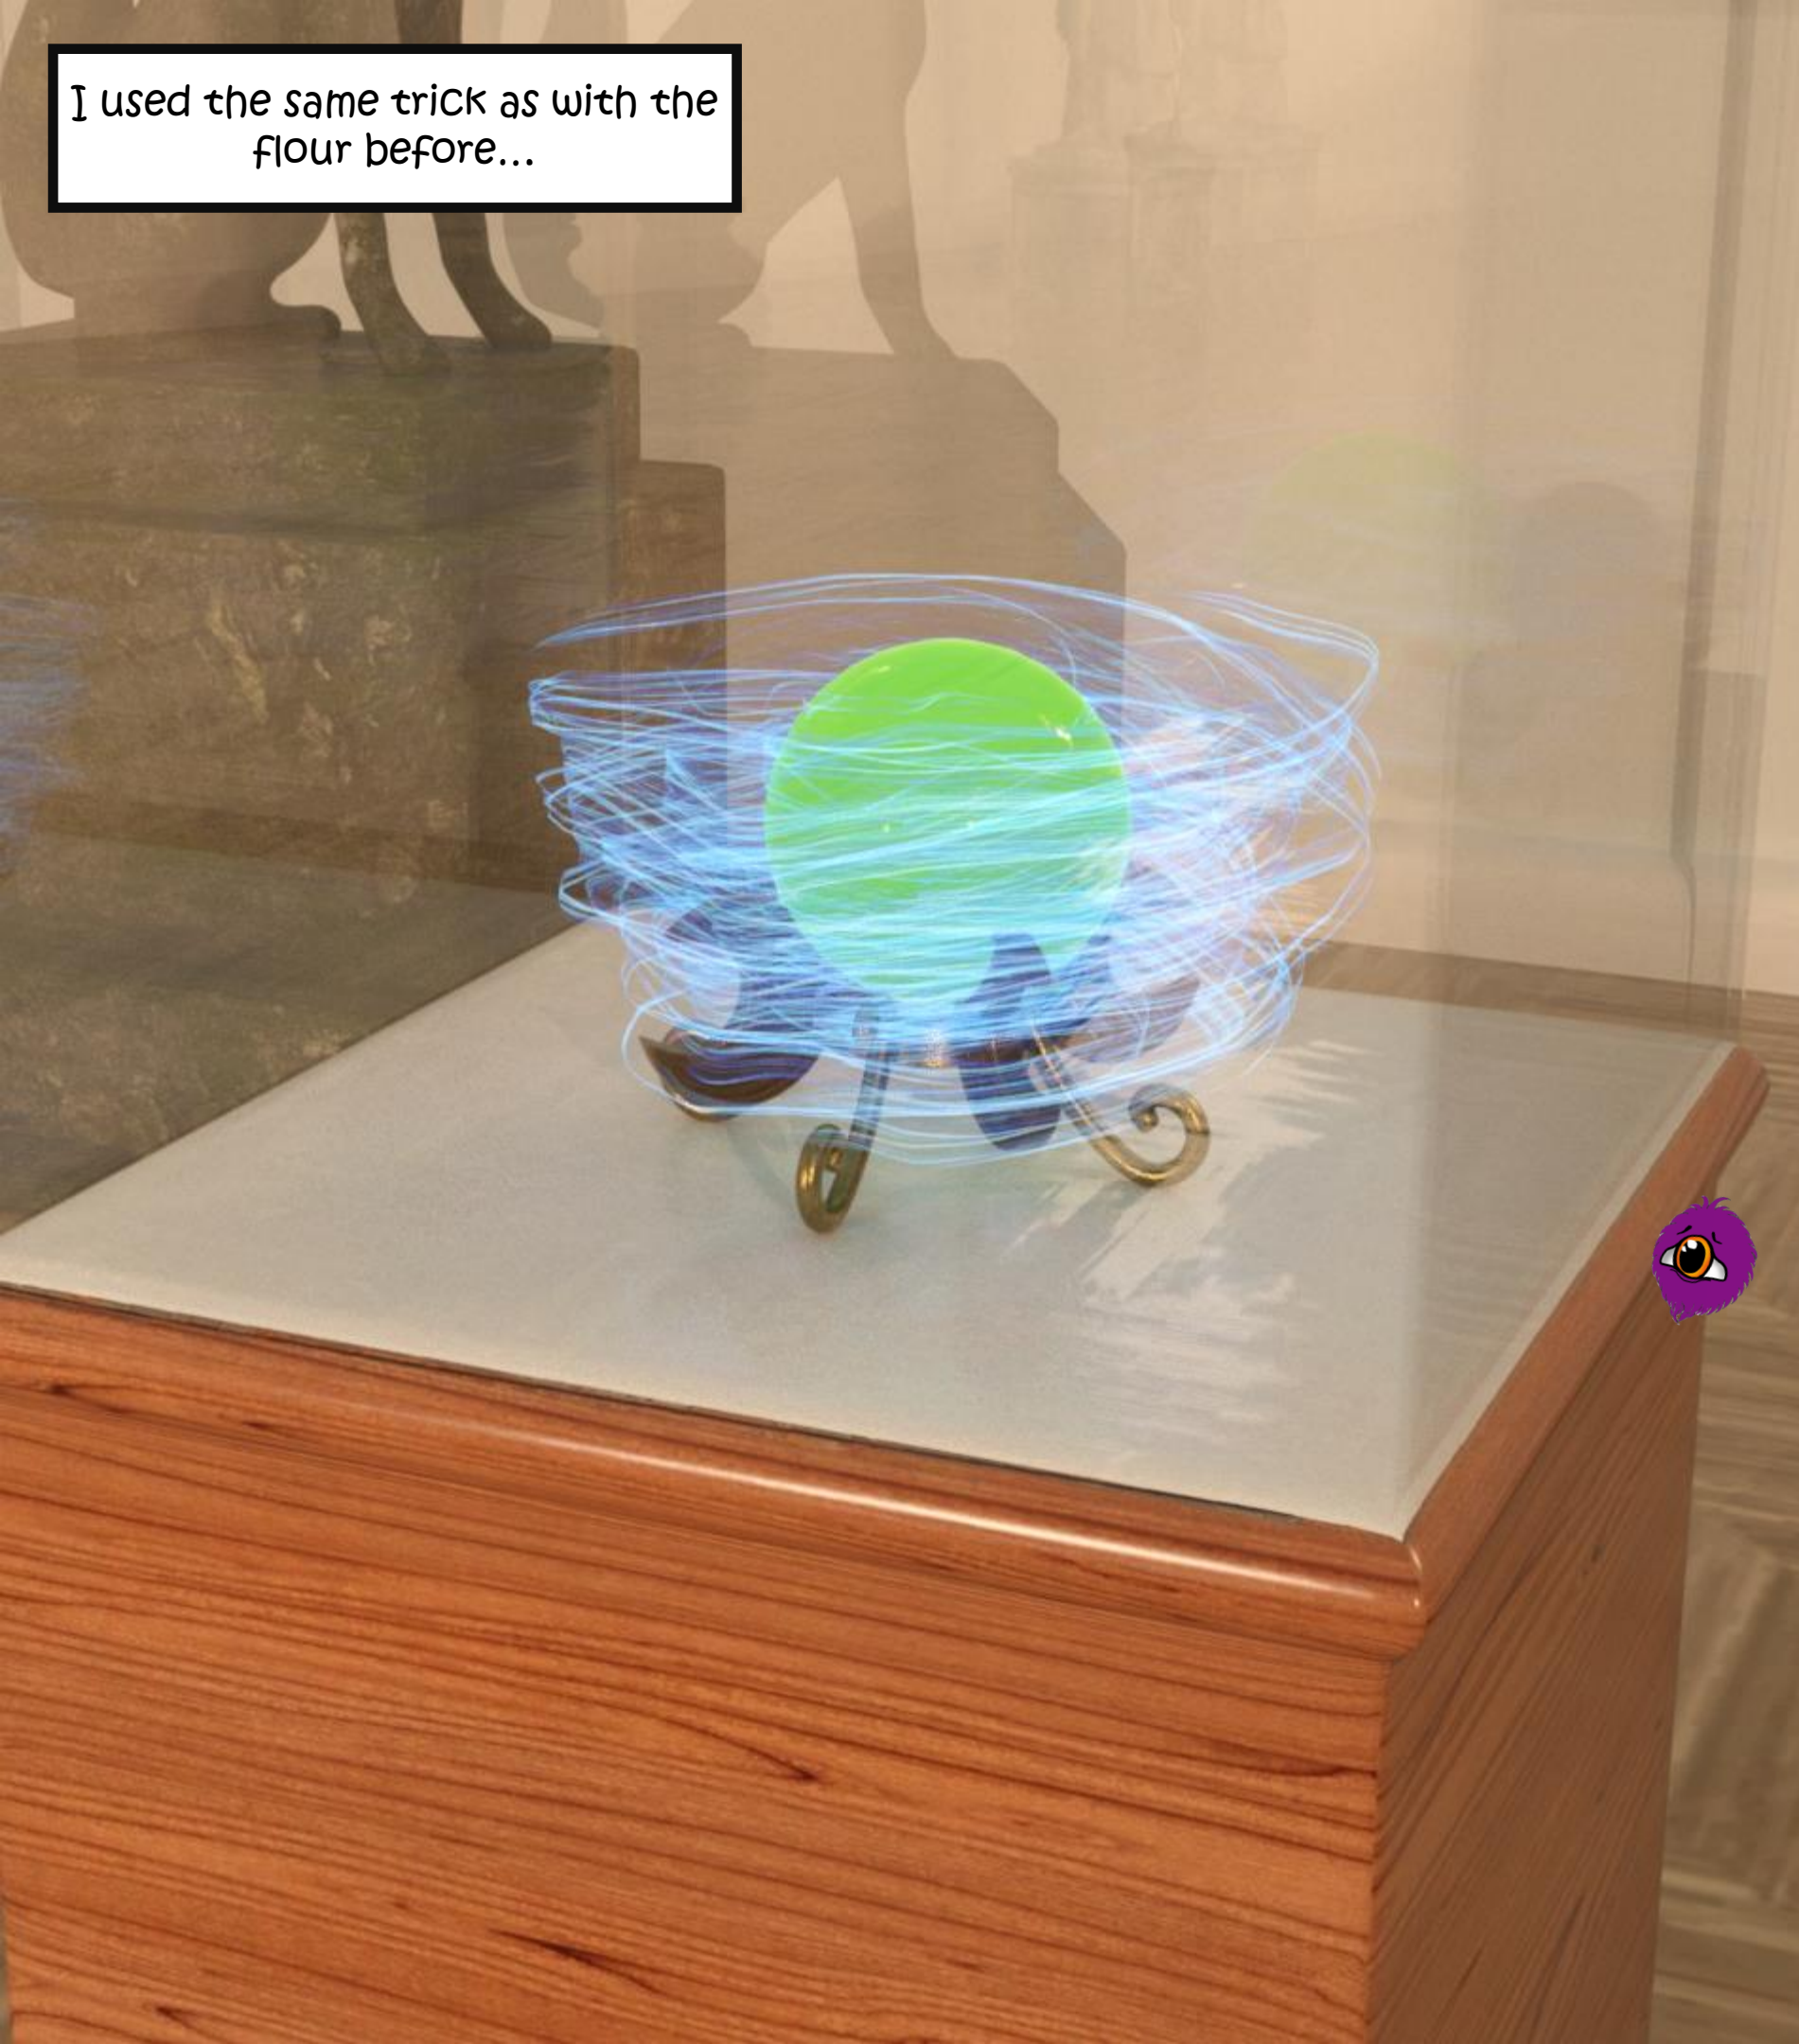

Teloris
Adhuc!

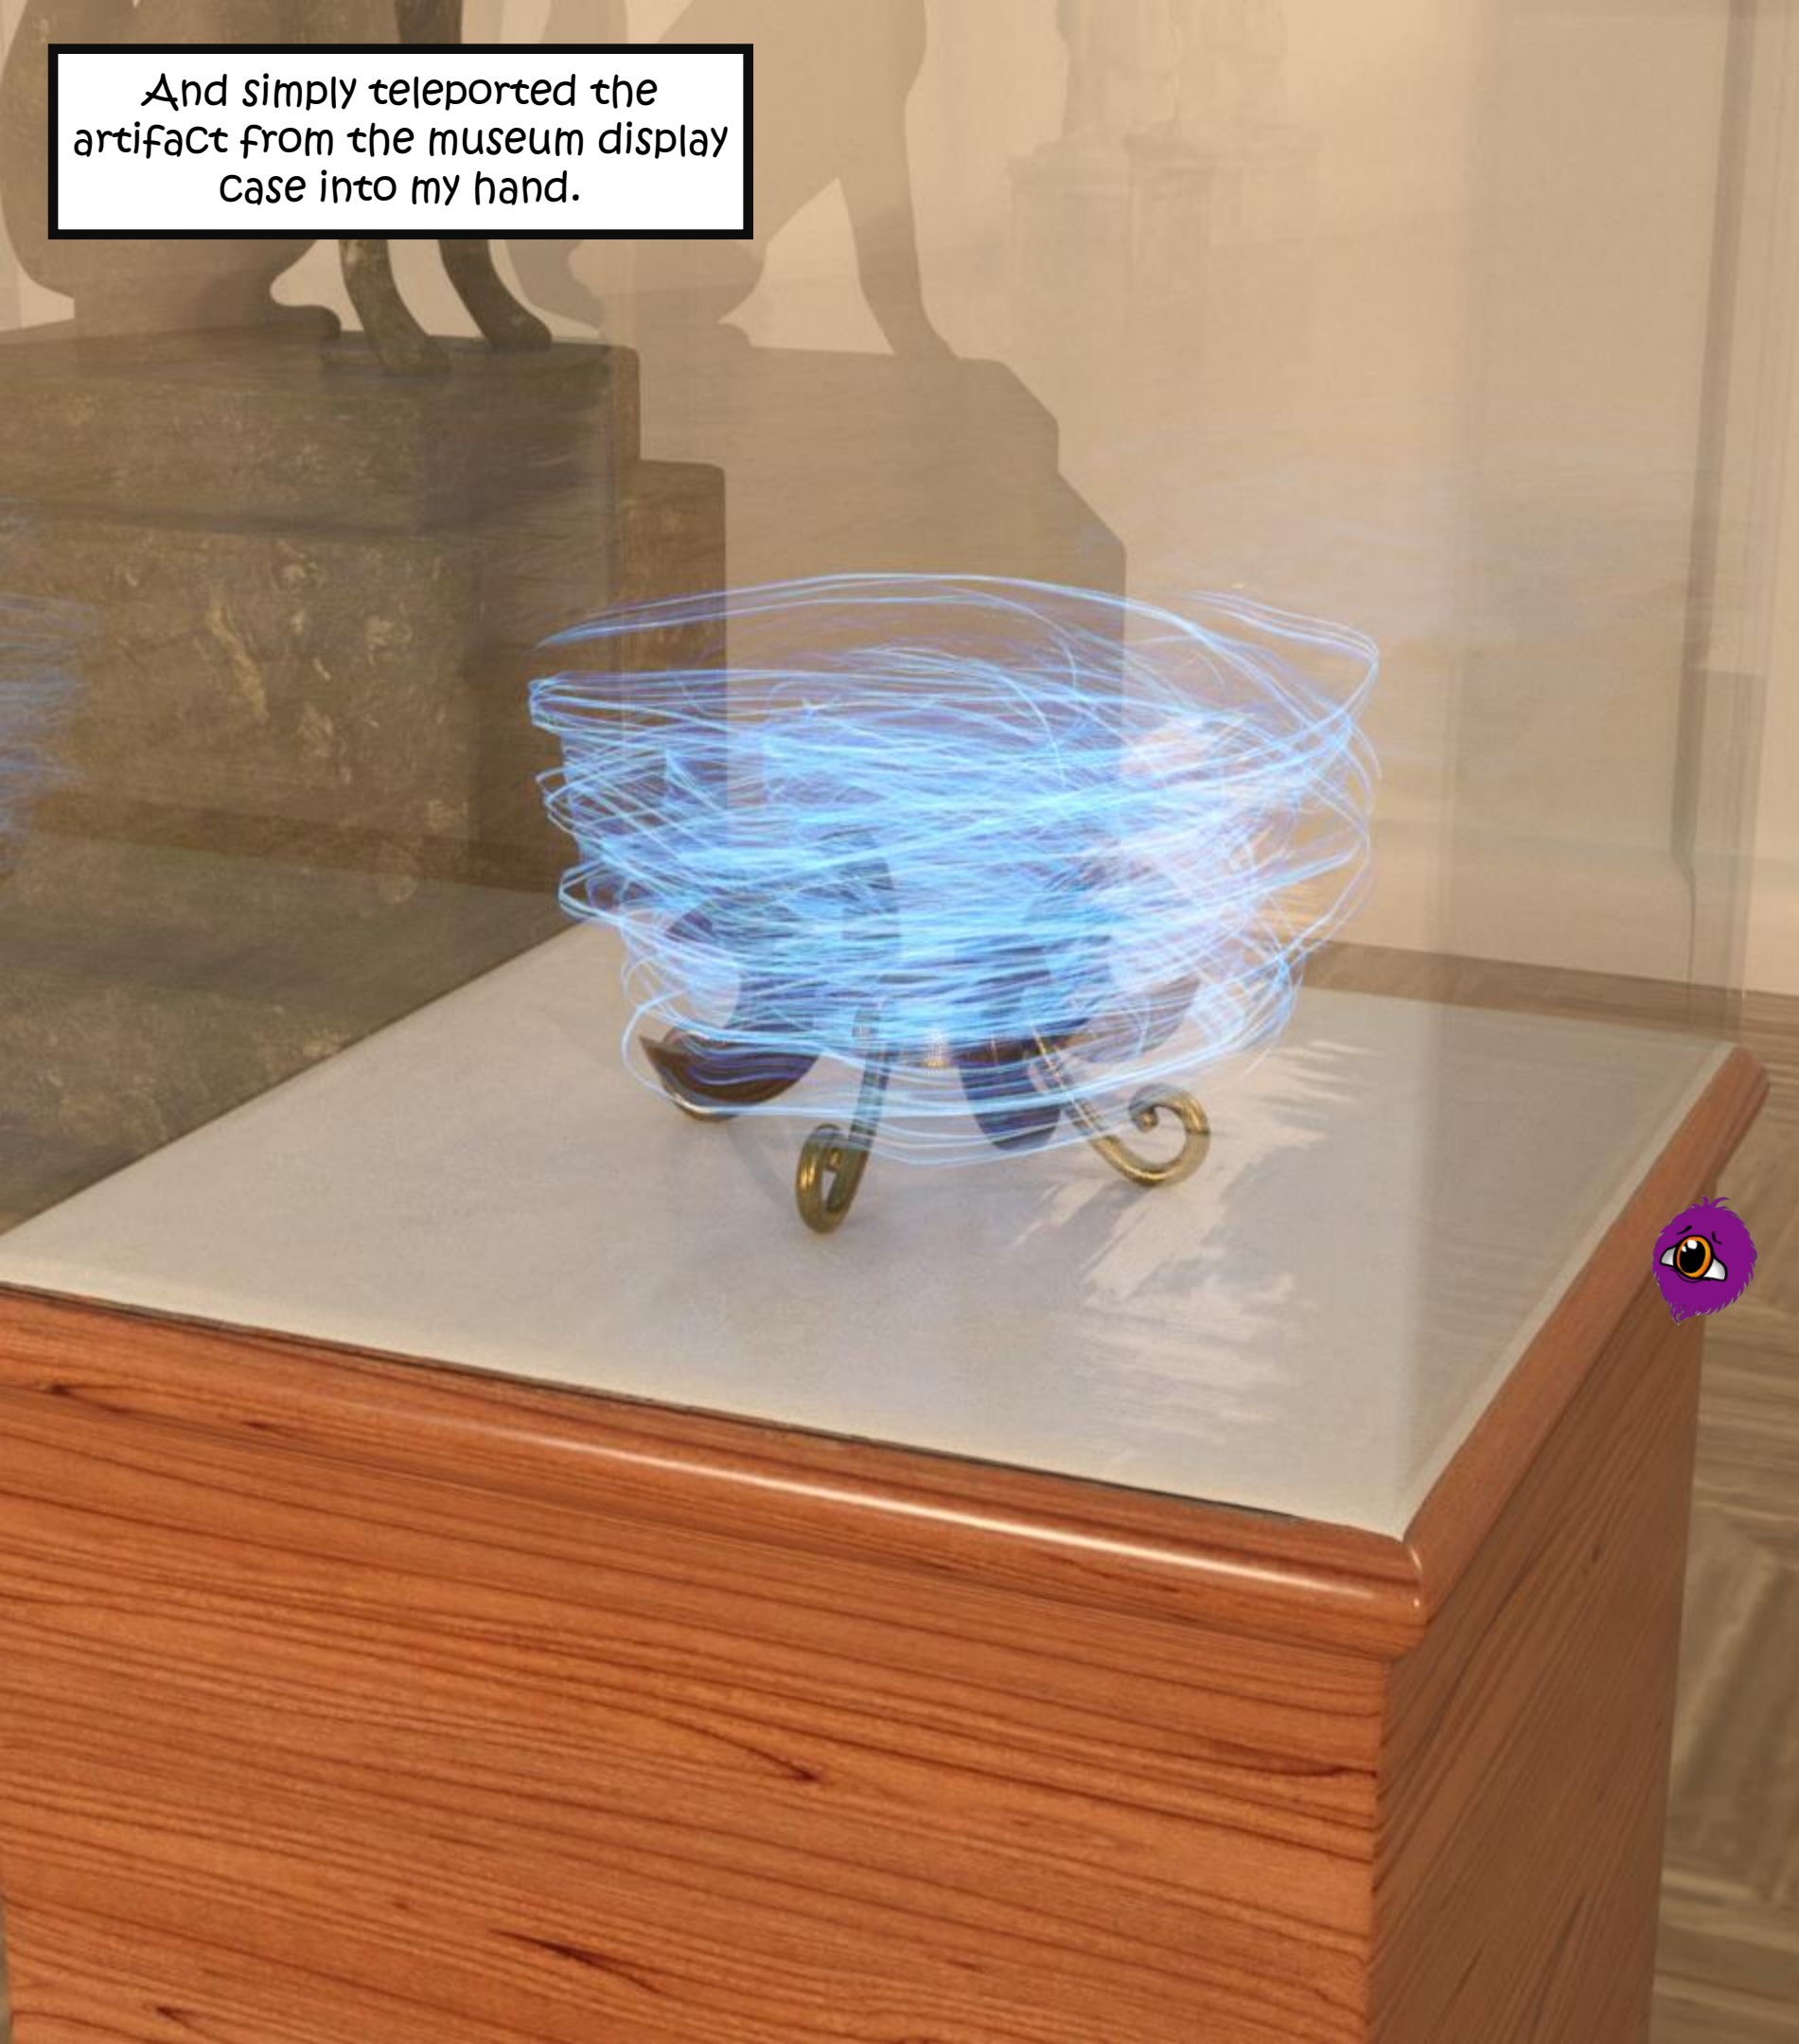

Teloris
Adhuc!

I used the same trick as with the flour before...

And simply teleported the artifact from the museum display case into my hand.

Before porting the trap orb in its place...

Teloris
Adhuc!

Even if there were a camera feed, it would probably just look like a glitch.

Nice!

And so, all the fuss about securing the artifact was kinda foul play. As I had already stolen it in the first place. Cool right? chuckle

Wait a second!

You had it all this time.

You made me listen to your story...

While you could have given me the artifaCt two days ago?!

I want my
artifaCt!
NOW!

Alright,
alright!

I have it right here...

Here
you go...

Teloris!

Don't waste my
time ever again,
minion!

End of Chapter.

Thank you for reading!

Hello, Hexxet here,

This concludes the Museum Heist Mission Arc, and Mika is left even more dissatisfied with his demon mistress than he already was. Is there a plan forming in Mika's mind to get rid of her? Who knows! 😊
